Beacon Health Coaching

Wellness Coaching provides support and encouragement to assist you in becoming your best self. You and your wellness coach work together to develop a program that fits your needs, values, vision and to overcome challenges that prevent you from reaching wellness goals.

Coaches may use inquiry or reflection to help you identify personal wellness goals and develop action plans to keep you focused on those goals. A coach holds you accountable by monitoring your progress. The wellness coach often acts as a human mirror by sharing unbiased perspectives. Coaches provide the tools to empower you to reach your best self. You become responsible for your achievements and success. You take action and the coach assists you, but never leads or does more than you.
